

DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

Security Committee

SECOM-D-010

9 January 1980

NOTE FOR: Mr. Gambino

VIA:

FROM:

SUBJECT: Our 8 December Visit to Justice re Wiretap Court

For your information, here's some additional background on people you met during the visit:

Eric Richard, the youngish man, is Special Assistant to the Attorney General. As such, he is the principal liaison between Ken Bass and Mr. Civilletti on day-to-day intelligence matters.

Lloyd Bastian, the rather tall, well-groomed one, is Director, Security Programs Staff, Department of Justice. That makes him Rubino's boss. He used to be with the President's Reorganization Project, and, per Jerry Rubino, is expected to be assigned elsewhere in the relatively near future.

On the copy I sent you of the proposed common carrier security procedures, I noted I had yet to talk with FBI as to who would issue and record clearances for common carrier personnel. Jim Sturgis, FBI, tells me they will look to Justice to perform this function. By the time next week's meeting in New York with common carrier representatives is over, the Justice security reorganization should have settled out enough to find a good place for this task. I will discuss this with Rubino and advise you of results.
